WARREN BOROUGH COUNCIL HAS A VERY BUSY NIGHT

Vacation was over Monday evening when the Warren borough council faced its agenda and went to work. It immediately acted to have the Pennsylvania Department of Highways prepare a plan for the widening of Jackson st., at a cost of about $59,000. This would cost the borough about $16,500, of which it might get back around $5,000 through assessments against property owners above Prsopect st. Council can accept or reject the plan.

The plan would widen the street from 20 to 28 feet as far as Franklin st., then to 26 up to Crescent and 25 feet the rest of the way. Some objections were expressed against moving it ahead of scheduled paving which will be done next year with funds received from property owners along streets paved this past summer. This is expected to be about $50,000.

However, council can make alterations in its schedule and certainly the widening of this main artery is of vital importance to the community as a whole. A mill increase also would more than cover the net cost.

Five bids were received for five hundred feet of fire hose, but all were rejected on a technicality. New bids will be advertised.

Ordinance 353 was amended to establish a new sequence of rank within the police department. As a means of compensating officers who have served the borough, the grades now will be chief, first and second

Parents Suggest Board Plan Seneca Addition

Two parents from the South Side attended the September meeting of the Warren borough school directors and suggested that the board consider long-term planning to arrange facilities for the anticipated increase in pupils. The problem was emphasized later in the meeting when the directors approved an extra bus trip to carry students from the South Side to McClintock school in an effort to relieve the overcrowded fourth grade. The plans had been established on a projection of fifty-seven students but a total of sixty-three fourth graders have enrolled.

The board reviewed the total cost of playground supervision and approved the bill as submitted to Warren borough council. Special services in the amount of $3,690 were allowed.

Approvals were granted for two teachers to attend conferences, Miss Jane Masters, kindergarten, Lacy, will journey to State College for the Teacher Education and Professional Standards conference on September 16 and 17. Miss Guinevere Knapp, third, Jefferson, will attend the Department of Classroom Teachers at Bedford Springs on October 14.

Dan Stimmell, fifth, McClintock, was appointed teacher librarian. Monthly orders totaling $1,966.32 were approved. McClintock PTA was granted permission to use the building for an ice cream social on September 28. Upon recommendation of the finance committee, $58,712.41 was ordered paid. Jim Hill was employed as elementary art supervisor.

lieutenants, and two sergeants. Appropriate pay no doubt will be arranged in the new budget.

It was learned that two policemen, Dick Tucker and William Parish have resigned, and that two firemen, Raymond Yaegle and Roger Sorenson, also have quit. Mr. Sorenson now is serving as a temporary police officer.

It was voted to buy radio equipment for the fire department through the civil defense officials, who will pay half of the $3247 cost. This will include four mobile units, two bases, and other equipment. The Warren county commissioners are providing an auxiliary generator to assure power under emergency conditions.

Councilman Mead asked why the same isn't being done for the police department which now pays about $1100 a year to the Bell Telephone Company for the use and maintenance of its radio system. Councilman Painter reviewed the police radio history, explaining that the original set owned by the borough proved too costly to maintain and a contract had been signed with Bell. Since then electronics have improved and he believed the firemen's equipment would be more satisfactory.

Councilman Mead suggested it seemed we are concluding that we now can maintain our own system more economically and he could see no reason for not doing the same for the police as was being done for the firemen.

Councilman Carbon asked council to accept the Junior Chamber of Commerce offer to provide lights on the tennis courts which the Jaycees are going to build on Beaty field. Asked why he didn't also ask for approval of the courts, Mr. Carbon explained that council previously had approved their construction and the parks and playground committee simply was permitting the Jaycees to finish what the borough had started. Council approved the lights. The lights and a curb about the hard surfaced area will make ice skating possible this winter.

Councilman Levine presented an ordinance which created the Recreation Board of the Borough of Warren, to consist of five members appointed by council, and to supervise the operation of Warren public recreational facilities. The board may accept gifts but can not commit the borough to expenditures without the approval of council. It was unanimously passed.

Councilman Yagge asked council to refer to the planning commission and the parking authority the subject of selling a piece of land at the foot of Market st. This is a part of the plot bought by council in 1953 at a cost of $8,500, and which was described as being large enough to park over 200 cars. It never has, and the part of it which is for sale does not include right of ways to Clark st. and to the parking area just north of Clark st.

Subtracting these 'ways from the three-fourths of an acre leaves about 12,000 square feet for sale. It has been rumored that at least one taxpayer is willing to pay $9,500 for this plot. However, bids must be asked if council decides to sell.

Councilman Yagge obtained permission to cancel the recently signed airport lease and to sign a new one with Einar Johnson, port

MORE PARKING . . . Down goes another old Warren home to make room for parked cars. This is the former Glassman residence on Fourth ave. Its removal will extend the New Process parking lot through the center of the block from Third.

SOON THEY WILL GO all the way to Fourth. This line of parked cars in the New Process lot will be extended to cover the lot where the building is seen coming down. The building is the former Glass-man residence on Fourth. The big lot will take many cars off the streets. A block west of this site the former Stein home has been razed and Warren Elks have moved their cars off the street.

manager. This is the result of Mr. Johnson's request for a change in the lease to relieve him of potential major maintenance costs.

Council also learned that the state has refused its request for a traffic light at Morrison and Pennsylvania ave.; approved three new street lights; named Jake Levinson to succeed Nat Drake on the parking authority; and heard a plea by Parks Superintendent Gib Reier for owners of private property to cooperate in the fight against the incurable Dutch elm disease which has reached Warren and could affect as many as 500 shade trees.

Signs of the disease include fading of the leaves in the green season and yellow leaves which stay on the tree in the winter. The borough will check such signs and will remove diseased limbs or trees if allowed to do so. The disease spreads from tree to tree and can be stopped only by eliminating the sick elms, or parts thereof.

NEW MANAGER. John R. Mathews assumed the responsibilities as manager of the Reserve Loan Co., 219 Liberty st., Warren, on Monday of this week. A native of Pittsburgh, Mr. Mathews is now a resident of Oil City and has been employed by Household Finance for the past eight years. The new manager was educated in Pittsburgh schools. His wife's name is Jean and he has two boys, David, 6, and John, 3. The Mathews are searching for a home in Warren.

Joint Committee OK's Intelligence Course

Col. Edward R. Ayres has been employed by the Warren area joint committee to teach an Air Force Intelligence course for the local air force reserve. Arrangements have been made through the efforts of Captain Hogg, of Olean, N. Y., and Robert Geiger, of Warren. The school authorities will sponsor the course but the costs will be reimbursed by the U. S. Air Force. The committee approved patch tests for the TB examinations. X-Ray follow-ups will be arranged where deemed necessary.

Salaries were adjusted for Lee Griffin and Warren Carr, Beaty teachers, in acknowledgment of masters' degrees.

Permission was granted for Christine Hurd, sponsor of the Dragon, to attend the Columbia School Press Conference on Year-books in New York City on October 14 and 15. Jim Springer received approval for a trip to Chicago for the week of October 15 through 21 where he will attend the National Safety Congress.

Resignations were received from Miss Rachel Robinson and Samuel Haggerty, Beaty teachers. They were replaced on a temporary basis by Mrs. Mary Jane Hubbard and Mrs. Betty Sampson. Norman Perry was employed as art teacher at Beaty.

School facilities were rented to the following: November 28, Beaty auditorium to the Women of the Moose for the presentation of Dr. Lockman, magician. January 28, Beaty cafeteria to the Chief Cornplanter Council of Boy Scouts for the annual recognition dinner. October 27, high school auditorium to the Warren - Forest Council Girl Scouts for the Court of Awards.

School facility rentals have been established as follows: Beaty cafeteria, $75; Beaty auditorium $60 where used for paid admissions or $20 where no admissions are charged; high school auditorium $30 when paid admissions are accepted or $20 for no-charge events.

RECEIVED $400 ELKS SCHOLARSHIP, Miss Barbara Champion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Champion, of 317 Prospect st., Warren, a 1955 graduate of Warren high school, left early this week for Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, where she has enrolled as a pharmacy student. She is the recipient of one of twenty-four scholarships awarded annually by the Pennsylvania Elks State Association.

Each applicant must be in the upper tenth of the graduating class, and must present a notebook of recommendations, plans for the future, and complete school records. Miss Champion is a graduate of Warren Conservatory of Music, member of the honorary group at graduation, member of the National Honor Society, Y-Teens, Dramatics Club, Dragon Band, Dragonette Staff, A Cappella Choir, Student Council, and Junior Philomel Club.

The first check of $400 was presented to Barbara during the Elks' state convention in the Penn-Harris hotel, Harrisburg. She will receive an equal amount each of the four years if she continues to meet the minimum requirements of the scholarship.

A RECEPTION FOR RABBI AND MRS. MELVIN HALPERN was held by the Sisterhood of the Synagogue on Wednesday evening, September 7. Members of the Warren Hebrew Congregation met for the occasion with Mrs. Jerome Waxman as chairman and Mrs. Bert Levinson as co-chairman. Mrs. Halpern was presented with a corsage as a reminder of the festivities.

Their eleven-months-old son is named Sheldon Michael.

no SPACE problem . . .
with an ELECTRIC

Only a modern Electric Water Heater gives you complete freedom of location in your home. The reason? Because an electric heater needs no flue connection. You can put it anywhere, upstairs or down. You can place it so that only short pipe runs are needed to take the hot water to kitchen, bath or laundry. That way you get hot water almost as soon as the faucet is turned. There is no wasteful heat loss from long runs.

The electric heater is so clean and attractive you can install it in almost any room. Put it in the playroom if you like. The children can put their hands on it anywhere without a particle of danger.

Whether your family is large or small, you'll find electric water heating economical, safe and so much more convenient. Your dealer can prove it to you . . . see your dealer or plumber now.

OUTDOORS

YOUR FOREST RANGER

By Larry Stotz

On the dusty brown surface of the woodland roads, and on top of the duff covered forest soil, throughout the Allegheny National Forest, the shiny reddish-black drupes of the black cherry are now falling to form welcome food for all manner of wildlife.

Only a few short months ago the white bloom of the black cherry was one of the first harbingers of spring as these fluffy white blossoms were supported stiffly upright like candles on stems which now are so burdened with clusters of rich, heavy fruit that they can be seen drooping all through the bright foliage of the tree.

As you walk down a wood's road, these late summer days, pick up a handful of these miniature cherries; wipe the dust off them and pop them into your mouth. The slightly tart, mildly bitter taste of the fleshy part of the fruit is not unpleasant to the taste. Once accustomed to eating them, a good seed year is eagerly looked forward to by the woodland hiker who enjoys savoring the goodness of the native nuts, fruits and berries of the Pennsylvania hills.

There seems to be a definite relationship between the ever expanding wild turkey population, on the Allegheny National Forest, and these shiny, black drupes of the black cherry.

Equipped with powerful feet, the wild turkey can scratch up the wild cherry seed from the forest floor even though covered by several feet of snow. The hard, woody cherry pits form a highly nutritious food for the wild turkey long after the fleshy part of the drupe has dried up or decayed.

The wild turkey thrives best in extensive areas of open, park-like forests, and there are thousands of acres of this type of timber, on the Allegheny National Forest, where black cherry is often the principal species. In the orchard type cherry forests, now covering old burns, the large crowned, open-grown cherry, form nearly pure stands. The wide spacing between trees in the orchard type, results in such poor quality sawlogs that their role in the economy of the Forest will be principally as food trees for wildlife, a significant role that they are particularly well adapted to play.

MRS. EVELYN M. OVERTURF, of 126 Highland ave., Youngsville, has been appointed home economist for Warren and Bradford districts of Pennsylvania Electric Co., according to an announcement by Royal A. Pickup, Northern Division manager for the utility. Mrs. Overturf, a native of Fairmont, W. Va., was home economics teacher at Youngsville high school until the date of her resignation last spring. She will continue to conduct cooking classes, appliance demonstrations and similar activities in the company's demonstration center in Warren.

Martha L. Ruch (left), second year Student Nurse, greets Clarice A. Bull (right) of Youngsville, Pa. as she entered The Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing in Philadelphia, Pa., last week. This new class of sixty-three students is the largest ever admitted to the School.

CHARGING AND LOOKING ahead is the thin line of Warren freshmen who reported for football this fall. These are the teams of tomorrow and already some of the boys have shown much promise. Coaches Briggs and Barr give them the fundamentals.

Drowned Were Two Warren Area Men in Jackson Run at 10:45 p. m., Saturday, September 10, when the car in which they were riding skidded on the loose gravel bordering the Creamery Rd., six miles west of Warren, off the Jackson Run Rd., and plunged into the stream. Merritt Bartsch, 45, and James F. Magee, 64, lost their lives when the car left the road, struck a steel girder, and landed upside down in nearly four feet of water. Another passenger, Theodore White, 31, escaped death when he was thrown from the car and suffered multiple cuts and bruises. All three men were from RD 2, Warren.

Democrats Outnumbered Republicans 231 to 140 in the first two days of special registrations at Youngsville, Sheffield, Clarendon, and Columbus. Eight non-partisans were listed and five gave their party choice as Prohibitionist.

U.S. Wool Producers voted to grieve the U. S. Agricultural Dept. authority to deduct one cent per lb. from shorn wool payments and five cents cwt. for live weight payments in order that their new organization might be financially able to promote the products by advertising and related market development activities. Pennsylvania farmers voted one percent less than the required two-thirds but other producers offset the deficit and left a whopping 72.2% "yes" vote. On the winning side, in unofficial returns, were 47,095 farmers with 9,127,056 sheep as opposed to 19,036 producers who own 3,517,680 animals.

Employment Increased in Warren County 1.3% or 94 individuals during the past sixty days, according to information released by David W. Levine, manager of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service office. The gain was indicated in reports from manufacturers and miscellaneous groups and offset small losses in the contractors division. The reports are garnered from forty-nine concerns who are currently employing 7,338 persons.

In contrast, during the past week in August 299 applications for unemployment benefits were filed. This corresponds with two months ago and a year ago of 424 and 496, respectively.

The 1955 Red Feather Campaign which will be conducted during the week of October 17 through 24 under the chairmanship of Nat Drake, former executive secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, will attempt to raise $62,000 which is 6½% above the $59,900 subscribed a year ago. The individuals who contribute should recognize the need for additional funds to provide the minimum of services and respond accordingly.

The individual allotments have been listed as follows: Boy Scouts - $8,500; Child Health Center - $315; Children's Aid Society - $1,050; Girl Scouts - $7,875; Salvation Army - $4,725; Warren Relief Association - $5,040; Warren Visiting Nursing Association - $2,546.25; Y. M. C. A. - $14,175; Y. W. C. A. - $8,400; USO - $1,000; Allowance for losses and expenses - $8,473.75.

Warren County FHA Girls planned for a folk dance party to be held in the near future at Sheffield when they met recently in the annex of the Warren County courthouse. They also decided to hold their next meeting in the form of a dinner party and to tour the Pennsylvania Electric plant the same evening. Girls were present from Youngsville, Sugar Grove, Sheffield, and Warren and were led by President Betsy Firth and Miss Fagley, county advisor.

Gerald Newton has been recommended to the Pennsylvania State Senate by Governor George M. Leader as a member of the Warren County Board of Assistance. Mr. Newton is superintendent of instruction in the Warren Area schools.

An Unidentified Motorist was indirectly responsible for an accident on Market st., Warren, which occurred at 10:46 a. m., Tuesday, September 13. The mystery driver was passing a truck while Alice A. Schellhamer was traveling north on Market. She pulled sharply to the right to avoid a collision and struck a car, owned by Stanley B. Warren, which was legally parked at the curb. Schellhamer received bruises and abrasions with possible chest injuries. Her car sustained damages totaling $300 and the parked car will require $200 in repairs.

Several Special Dates were announced at the meeting of the Zonta Club by the president, Mrs. Leota Clark. The district conference meeting will be held at Bradford on September 30 through October 2 with the principal speaker at the Saturday night banquet being Dr. Dorothea Radusch, international president. The annual ice buffet of the Lockport Zonta Club was announced for Saturday, September 17. An invitation was read from the Fredonia-Dunkirk club to its silver anniversary party. The next meeting will be September 22, at 6:30, at Home Spun Inn.

In The Shadow Of the Golden Gates the National Convention of the Girl Scouts of U.S.A. will convene on November 1 and continue through November 4. Delegates to the San Francisco gathering from the Warren-Forest council are Mrs. Arthur Chapman and G. Weston Ensworth, president and treasurer of the council, respectively.

Damages Totaling nearly $500 resulted from an accident which occurred at 11:45 p. m., on Saturday, September 10. Elmer Werlin, operating an International truck, was stopped on Pennsylvania ave. preparatory to turning left into the parking lot of the State Dinor. Earl Lai, of 1915 Pennsylvania ave., E., could not stop in time to avoid striking the rear of the Werlin truck. Elmer Werlin and Inez Lai, a passenger, were treated by a local physician for minor injuries.

Warren Delegates to the 105th annual meeting of the Medical Society of Pennsylvania have been announced as Drs. William M. Cashman and John C. Urbaitis. The conclave will be held in Pittsburgh between September 18 and 23. More than 2,000 physicians from the state will hear scientific papers on the latest in surgery and medicine, view the exhibits of pharmaceuticals, medical and hospital equipment, books and new techniques, and attend the state dinner and medical school alumni gatherings.

After A Five-Months Tour of the Mediterranean, George N. Eckland, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eckland, of 201 Dartmouth st., Warren, is scheduled to arrive in Boston on September 30 aboard the light cruiser, Worcester, which is part of the 6th fleet. The trip included goodwill stops in Lisbon, Naples, Cannes, Palermo, Rhodes, and Barcelona.

Tennis Court Committees and ice skating committees for Beaty Field were announced immediately following the Warren borough council's acceptance of the Jaycees' generous offer to construct the facilities. General chairman will be Frank Chiodo, and Don Owens will serve as general secretary. Other work groups include: Engineering - Alex Fino, Bill Houston, Will Wakely, Ed Farynowski, John Swick; Construction - Ross Ruhlman, Ted Wood, Herm Heubach; Manpower - Earl Abel, Al Anderson, Jack Hickey; Finance - Bob Wilder, Gerry Huber, John Smith, Bob Geiger; Publicity - Alan Blair.

New Dance Instructor, David Lopez, will join the Wright Dance Studio as a tap teacher in the near future. He is operator of the Lopez Dance Studio in Jamestown and a member of the National Association of Dance and Applied Arts. Mr. Lopez is a native of California and studied with Leon Val Des in San Francisco. For further information classes, call 628-R.

Pfc. Rodney N. Kerchner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kerchner, of 103 Pioneer st., Warren, is serving with Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron 31, a unit of Marine Aircraft Group 31 at the Marine Corps Air Station in Miami, Fla.

What Kind Of Peace?

By Marquis Childs

EN ROUTE TO AMERICA, -- The second act of the great endeavor to negotiate an end to the cold war will open when the foreign ministers meet in Geneva on October 27. Dramatists almost always have trouble with second acts and this is certain to prove true of the four men who will confront the whole bundle of problems that the heads of government did not begin to resolve.

Certain of these problems, conspicuously the reunification of Germany, appear to be insoluble on any agreed basis. If the meeting in October becomes a public haggle over these obstacles then the whole benefit of the summit meeting will be quickly dissipated. There can with sufficient goodwill be an exploration of other bypaths that may contribute to the new understanding coming out of the first act at Geneva.

We sometimes seem to forget that negotiation is a two-way street. A great deal of foolish talk since the summit conference has assumed that the West, having reached a pinnacle of strength, proposed to dissipate it by striking an agreement with the Soviet Union which was correspondingly weak and in need of a truce in the cold war.

President Eisenhower may have in these matters a greater sense of realism. Or it may be more accurate to say that the Geneva conference and the agreement there to try to agree was a direct consequence of the course that the President has followed from his first entrance into politics. It is well to look at the record in this connection.

The President and the Reluctants have waged two political campaigns -- '52 and '54 -- on the promise to bring peace. Often last October it sounded like a promise of peace at any price as the score of casualties in three wars was added up and charged to the Democratic account. The promise to lower taxes and cut back the military establishment has been lived up to, with six divisions taken out of the Far East even though several areas there have remained critical.

Despite all the talk of the efficacy of specialized nuclear weapons, American military strength has been reduced. This was an example to other members of the North Atlantic Alliance to cut down on their burdensome military commitments. The fact is, of course, that they needed very little encouragement.

In late April, shortly before the May NATO meeting, General Alfred Gruenther, supreme commander, in a report on capabilities of the Western alliance showed that only three countries -- the United States, Canada and Turkey -- had lived up to their commitments. Some were woefully behind. Gruenther wanted a showdown on this report, with the foreign ministers called on to say whether their countries would deliver on their paper promises. But this was considered impolitic and Gruenther was told that the NATO defense ministers would be confronted with the harsh report at a special meeting which may or may not be held next month.

All this happened before agreement was reached on a summit meeting. The troubles of the Western alliance had become painfully evident. This is true, in particular, of France whose grave weakness is advertised in the headlines of the Moroccan war -- it can hardly be called less than that. As the North African crisis grew more intense, the French withdrew one of their NATO divisions with merely a notification to NATO headquarters that this was being done.

Since then the government in Paris has made it plain that if the African situation demands it all French troops will be withdrawn. With this happening it is impossible to maintain a coalition army. One of the chief reasons for French opposition to European union, which was finally defeated in the French National Assembly, was that in such a union France could not determine where her own troops would be stationed. To speak of the Big Four with France as one of the four is merely a habit out of the past in view of the grave situation in which the French have put themselves.

The great deterrent to an aggressive war by the Soviet Union has remained America's arsenal of nuclear weapons and the Strategic Air Command. Since Russia has the same retaliatory striking power, what we have seen is a nuclear stalemate, with both sides realizing that resort to war means the destruction of civilization and perhaps the annihilation of the human race.

The troubles within the Soviet bloc have been widely advertised. They may well add up to the principal reason for the willingness of the Soviet leaders to negotiate a truce in the cold war. It is inherent in President Eisenhower's realism that he understands the nature of the present opportunity for negotiation.

A negotiated truce does not mean however, that the major differences are to be swept under the rug. To do that, while uttering honeyed words of harmony, would be to set the trap for a future blowup. But it may be possible, given the situation on both sides of the divide, to negotiate a controlled peace that will be neither surrender nor victory.

Three Shows Set to Debut Sept. 20

TUESDAY, Sept. 20, will be an outstanding television night on WBEN-TV with three completely new CBS shows to premiere. The evening will start at 8 o'clock with Navy Log, followed by Phil Silvers in You'll Never Get Rich and then the comedy series, Joe and Mabel.

"The Frogmen," a dramatization involving the intrepid members of a U. S. Navy underwater demolition team, will be the premiere presentation on the new factual adventure series, Navy Log, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Trimmed at poker by green GIs, Phil Silvers as Master Sgt. Binko, tries to round up a bankroll to recoup in a Saturday night game, in "The New Platoon." It's the premiere program of You'll Never Get Rich, new comedy series starring Silvers, Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock on Channel 4.

Joe, who's a big city cab driver, and Mabel, his matrimonial-minded girl friend, are the two comical personages in the CBS Joe and Mabel series, co-starring Larry Blyden and Nita Talbot, Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock.

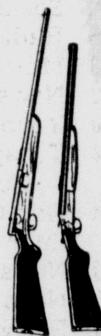

Crusader on Friday

Crusader, weekly dramatic series of a free-lance writer's fight to help victims of tyranny escape to free countries, will debut on WBEN-TV starring Brian Keith. Friday night, Oct. 7, at 9:30 o'clock.

WARREN COUNTY FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Friday, September 16 - WARREN at Franklin.

Saturday, September 17 - SHEFFIELD at NORTHERN AREA
Saegertown at YOUNGSVILLE.

 DRAGONS BEAT CORRY

The Warren high Dragons started in the right direction for top honors in Section II, District 10 last Friday night at Corry when they scored a touchdown in the first quarter and cut short a Corry touchdown drive in the fourth quarter to defeat the Beavers, last year's Section II, District 10 champions, 6 to 0. It was the first game of the season for both teams.

The Blue and White scored in the first quarter after recovering a Corry fumble on their own 15 yard line. From their own 15, Coach Bell's men moved the ball to the Corry 27-yard stripe in four plays. Halfback Don Mohney, showing more power and speed than last season, picked up all that yardage in the three times he toted the pigskin while Carl Greco could gain no ground in his own try at advancing the ball. Then Greco took a hand-off from fullback Jack Shattuck and flew 27 yards around his own left end for the game's only score. Mohney's attempt for the extra point was wide.

The two teams battled on even terms from that point until the tail end of the third quarter. Then Don Mohney punted from the Corry 46 and the ball was downed on the Corry 2. The fourth quarter then commenced and the Beavers held on to the ball for 9 minutes and advanced it from their own 2 yard line to the Warren 15 before the Warren forward wall rose up and stopped the Corry drive on a fourth down. Warren then ran out the clock.

Warren threatened to score on two other occasions. Don Mohney attempted a field goal from about 20 yards out but the kick was wide of the goal posts. Carl Greco got loose a second time and while he tried to outmaneuver the Corry safety man, he was brought down from behind.

Carl Greco, Don Mohney and Jack

Shattuck performed well in the offensive backfield while Tommy LeTrent and John Berdine looked good in the defensive backfield. The line play, except for the high tackling which usually becomes progressively lower as the season goes on, was good with the backs enjoining good blocking, especially on end runs.

Friday night, tomorrow, the Dragons will go to Franklin for another Section II, District 10 contest. Last Friday the Nurserymen were beaten, 25 to 14, by Mercer in a non-league game.

 COUNTY TEAMS IN LEAGUES

Three Warren County high school football teams, Warren, Northern Area and Sheffield, will compete in leagues during the 1955 football season. The fourth county team, Youngsville, is a member of no football loop.

Warren high school is aiming its guns at top honors in Section II, District 10. Other high schools in the six-team circuit are Corry, Franklin, Meadville, Oil City and Titusville.

Sheffield is a member of the six-team Allegheny Mountain League. League members besides the Wolverines are Coudersport, Otto Township, Port Allegany, St. Marys, and Smethport.

Northern Area is the only Pennsylvania school represented in the seven-team Northwestern Conference. New York state members of the league are Brocton, Cassadaga Valley, Randolph, Ripley, Silver Creek and Westfield.

 HI SCHOOL HI-LITES

The 1955 football season opened for the majority of the area football teams last weekend and the fundamentals learned in the previous weeks of practice were put to use.

WARREN COUNTY - Warren blanked Corry, 6 to 0. Sheffield slaughtered Waterford, 50 to 0. Youngsville walked over Union City, 46 to 7. Northern Area did not play.

SEC. II, DIST. 10 - Warren blanked Corry, last year's champion, 6 to 0, and Titusville beat Oil City, 12 to 7, in the only two league games. In non-league activity, Meadville tied Greenville, 7 to 7, and Franklin was downed by Mercer, 25 to 14.

WARREN'S NON-LEAGUE OP-PONENTS - Bradford tied Har-
Brack, a Pittsburgh team, 20 to 20. Ridgway whitewashed Kane, 25 to 0, and Millcreek surprised Erie East, 25 to 0. Jamestown was not scheduled.

ALLEGHENY MOUNTAIN LEAGUE - St. Marys dumped Port Allegany, 26 to 12, in the only league game of the weekend. In non-league activity Sheffield overpowered Waterford, 50 to 0, and Coudersport was beaten, 13 to 0, by Emporium.

ERIE - Cathedral Prep was the only Erie school to turn in a win in their season's opener. Prep bested New Kensington, 27 to 13. Academy was nipped by Farrell, 13 to 6, and East was blanked by Millcreek, 25 to 0. Strong Vincent fell victim to Ambridge, 19 to 13, and Erie Tech was stopped by Butler, 31 to 6.

AROUND ERIE - Fairview dumped Albion, 13 to 6, Cambridge Springs took Edinboro, 19 to 0, and Girard and Lawrence Park tied 7 to 7. Harborcreek got by Wesleyville, 12 to 6, and North East romped over Clarion, 31 to 18. Saegertown whitewashed the Meadville Jayvees, 19 to 0.

OTHER TEAMS - DuBois was romped by Altoona, 40 to 6, and Ellwood City defeated New Brighton, 26 to 0. Grove City was held scoreless by Beaver Township, 32 to 0.

 HOT STOVE UNIFORM DEADLINE

Next Monday, September 19, is positively the deadline for turning in Hot Stove uniforms, it was announced at last Tuesday's meeting of the Hot Stove League. Members of the equipment committee will be at Clyde R. Norris' optician shop, 338 Pennsylvania ave., W., from 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m. to receive the uniforms.

Hot Stovers who fail to turn in their uniforms at this time will not be eligible for Hot Stove competition next season.

 HOT STOVERS AID FUND

The Warren Chapter of the Hot Stove League voted at last Tuesday's meeting to send a contribution to the Phil Rizzuto scholarship fund. The fund came about when New York Yankee fans set up a Phil Rizzuto Day and the Yankee shortstop announced that all money which was received by him for this Day would be turned into a scholarship fund to aid needy students.

GOLF ACTION

Tim Creal again is champion of the Conewango Valley Country Club golfers, gaining a victory over Bill Rice to earn himself the honor for the fifteenth time. However, Bill did his best to make a match of it, carrying Tim to the thirtieth before it was over.

The next major tournament at the club will be held Sunday, September 25, when the pros of Southwestern New York and Northwestern Pennsylvania will be invited to take part in a pro-member event. Amateurs from the Warren club and a few neighboring courses will team up with the visiting pros in four-ball foursomes, using handicaps.

There also will be a scratch field for the par shooters, and the action will be followed by a dinner. Such pros as Toby Lyons, Lionel Herbert, Nick Carter, Sam Urzetta, Mike Parco, and many others will participate.

Members of the local club are asked to sign up this Thursday. If enough cannot be signed to support the event, outside amateurs will be invited.

Weekly competition at the club last week was for those who have not won a previous event. Dr. Sugarman and Al Vermilyea tied for first in match play against par and also posted 41's for low gross. Other winners were Frank Perrin, C. C. Rossell, Eddie Erickson, and Rocky Shiel. Today they play a flag tournament, next week an individual medal play.

Fred Paine, former Warren assistant golf pro and now an amateur, won his first match in the national amateur, Monday, one up in 21 holes. His victim was Fred K. Gniadek, of Pittsfield, Mass. He then cut down Ray Terry, of Jacksonville, 3 and 1. Two matches were scheduled for yesterday and if the big boy came through these he is one of the surviving 16 out of a field of over 200. Fred was low qualifier in Western Pennsylvania.

 THE LADIES GOLF

Mrs. Homer Culbertson posted an 83 to lead the CVCC ladies in their weekly competition. In the best ball event, Mrs. Joseph De Frees and Mrs. John Carter were first, and Mrs. Robert Walsh and Mrs. Robert Alexander were second.

In handicap action, Mrs. Culbertson was first in division one, with Mrs. W. O. Lawson and Mrs. Carter tied for second. Mrs. Robert Alexander led division two, and Mrs. Andrew Paucak was second. Mrs. Jeral Angove led division three.

Next week they will have a driving, putting, and approaching contests.

Introducing the LINCOLN PREMIERE FOR 1956

THE FOUR-DOOR SEDAN

We believe that the large, long, expansive roominess of a sedan need sacrifice nothing in agile grace. Witness the Lincoln Premiere Four-Door Sedan. It is longer and roomier than any Lincoln of the past; nevertheless it is unmistakably lithe and "Lincoln." Those for whom this car was created will appreciate its new wide choice of decor. The superlative luxury of the Premiere offers this special fine-car buyer the widest possible opportunity for individual expression in his selection of colors, leathers, and fabrics. The choice of 27 different interiors makes the Premiere selected a personal expression of good taste. And, as in all 1956 Lincolns, here is new safety, too. Seat belts are optional, while safety door locks and safety steering wheel are standard on all models.

A. J. McDonnell Named Probation Officer

The board of directors of the Warren County Probation association announced last night that A. J. McDonnell, Beaty junior high school English teacher and guidance advisor, has been appointed probation officer for boys for Warren county. The appointment was recommended to the Warren county commissioners by the directors and approved by Judge Alexander C. Flick.

Mr. McDonnell was graduated from Penn State university in 1952 and has completed credits for a master's degree in guidance and psychology. He is married and has

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY HONORS GOLD STAR MOTHERS. At a meeting in the Legion Home, Warren, on Tuesday evening, Gold Star mothers were honored guests of the Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Mary Ann Buerkle (center, seated) was program director, Dr. A. K. Chatterjee, of the Warren State Hospital, was the principal speaker, Mrs. Florine Larson (seated - next to M.C.) is president of the Auxiliary. Others in the group, not in order, are: Elizabeth Shepard, Mrs. Victor Granquist, Mrs. Bessie Sullivan, president of the Gold Star Mothers, Mrs. Margaret Schwab, Mrs. Mary Edmiston, Irene Hornstrom, Mrs. Myrtle Mangini, Mrs. Mildred Washburg, Mrs. Sophie Samuelson, Ethel Dunn, Pearl Feiro, Mrs. Sarah Smith, Mrs. Margaret Day, Mrs. Anna Seaquist, Mrs. Ellen Sasser-son, Mrs. Hulda Sedon, Emma Kier-nan, Susie Shepard, Mrs. Mabel Rogers, Mrs. Ella Mauk, Alice Wil-son, Clara Driscoll.

ANNUAL SHARING OF PRODUCE. A central European tradition of sharing the bounties of harvest with the less fortunate, was continued by members of the Emmanuel Evangelical and Reformed congregation of Warren in their service Sunday morning. Gifts were placed at the altar which shall be utilized in St. Paul's Children and Old Folks' Home, Greenville, Pa. The Rev. John A. Barger, pastor, is pictured at the pulpit of his church. Many of the gifts had already been removed before the picture was taken.

a son. In Warren he has been associated with the Jaycees and for a year was Junior Hi-Y advisor. A financial campaign to build up the permanent endowment fund of the Association will be held at a time which will not interfere with the Community Chest and other drives, with a goal of $5,000, the same as last year. The Warren Rotary Club will supervise the drive and each member will attempt to secure a new one. The requirement is a ten dollar contribution.

Judge Flick said the Association was trying to widen the understanding of juvenile problems in Warren county. He said that if it were not for the fact that police and school authorities are aware of their responsibility the situation might be much worse.

He said that many situations can be handled and solved at a pre-court level if all citizens, especially parents, will more fully realize their responsibility. He asked for full cooperation with Mr. McDonnell in the job ahead.

Judge Flick also said that the Secretary of Defense has issued new instructions relative to making it easier for boys with court records to enlist. Each case will receive careful consideration through the cooperation of the courts and juvenile court officers. This new policy stresses the rehabilitation of the offender as the primary aim of the community.

Arranging the details of the campaign is a special committee, composed of Maurice Emery, W. Howard Alexander, Frank W. Perrin, and Judge Flick.

LEISURE TIME IMPROVEMENTS

In addition to the use of daylight saving as a means of gaining more time for pleasure, another suggestion many times has been made and now is being pushed. This is the scheduling of all holidays so that they will come on Monday. It would mean a real holiday week end in every case and the majority of employers and employees favor it.

A national association is reported to have made a survey on the subject with the following results: Of a thousand firms contacted, ninety per cent favored the idea. Of these, seventy-two per cent said such a plan would make their work schedules easier, twenty per cent said it would make no difference, and about six per cent claimed it would make it more difficult.

Ninety-five percent believed their employees would favor the idea. And about two-thirds doubted if it would have any effect on wages and costs. Ten per cent thought it would increase their costs. About twenty-three per cent figured it would save money.

As for us, we like the idea. The interruption of work schedules on a miscellaneous schedule of mid-week days is very inconvenient and costly. And a single holiday in the middle of the week is of little value to most people. The Monday holiday would make it a two-day or three-day sweep which would provide an opportunity for people to have an unhurried vacation several times a year.

DUBBERS, ATTENTION

And some who may not think themselves to be duffers. This week's issue of Sports Illustrated should have a tip from the top that applies to most golfers who have trouble shooting under 100. It deals with the elbows. The weekly feature is one of the best of its kind, offering the ideas of many golf pros, each of whom has a key to better golf.

FALL SWINGERS

We never could understand why many people put the golf sticks away after Labor Day. It is as though they thought the weather works on a set calendar, which happily it does not.

There is no better time of the year in which to be outdoors than the fall. Some of those nippy days may not allow your hands to play the best golf, but they are ideal for walking and outdoor fun. And there are some mighty hot days in the fall, especially through September (which still is summer in case you are a calendar thinker) and part of October.

In fact, we have written many words of opposition to the Pennsylvania hunting season which comes in November, the March month of fall, nasty, inconsistent, miserable when it is miserable. October, or at least the last half of it, would be so much better for the nimrods.

* TOURNAMENT?

There are some, however, who do not give up on summer pleasures the minute Labor Day is checked off. The Conewango Valley Country Club this year is running its golf dinners and weekly tournaments until the last Thursday of the month. And some of the boys now are talking about holding a pro-amateur tournament on September 25, with players from Northwestern Pennsylvania and Southwestern New York invited. It would bring to the course some of the leading pros, such as Toby Lyons and Lionel Hebert, plus many par-wrecking amateurs to match shots with the home pro, Paul Porter, and a few of the local shooters who can hold their own with most of them.

WATCH THE NATIONAL

Still on golf, Warren whiffers should have a very personal interest in this year's national amateur, which is being held at Richmond, Va., this week. In it is Fred Paine, who once served as assistant pro for Toby Lyons at the Warren course. Fred reestablished himself as an amateur, but kept drilling at the game. Not satisfied with his play he went to Henry Picard, who taught him a completely new game, which some call the Morrison system, and others now call the Picard system. It gradually showed results and Picard has said that Fred today is one of the longest hitters in the game.

Fred took the tough Oakmont

Country Club championship last year and this season won the Pennsylvania state amateur crown. He then tied for low medalist in the national amateur qualifying round. If you have been watching the sports pages this week you may know how far he lasted in the quick-death match play that is a part of the amateur.

We hope the big fellow goes all the way, not only because he is a friend, but he is living proof of what can be done to improve yourself in any line of endeavor if you really want to apply yourself and work at it. And this is just his hobby. Fred is enjoying success as a business man.

We listen to so many wail about their golf and bowling. Then we see a fellow like Fred go out and do something about it. For a fraction of what most of us spend on our regular play we could take a few lessons, do a bit of practicing, and come up with results that would give us a sense of accomplishment and a pride in our performance.

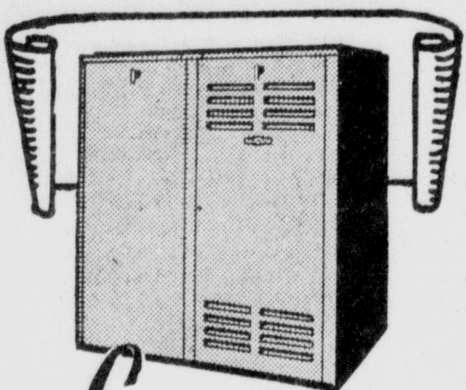

The fellow we never will understand is the one who bowls in a league once a week, cries all season about the pins, the alleys, the weather, or his luck, and never tosses a few practice shots on off-nights to correct his own faults. The truth is . . . he's a bore.

BUYERS' CORNER

TIME TO BUY

Need we tell you that now is the time to buy a new car, or even a good old one? Most dealers are loaded and new models are about to be sprung on them. You should be able to make a real deal on a 1955 car this month. And it won't be all loss for the dealer. Not only will he be happy to move one, he also probably will get a bonus for doing it.

BIGS GET BIGGER

The big car manufacturers may run into trouble if they also attempt to be dealers, but we wouldn't be surprised if they got as close to it as the FTC will allow. The little dealer today is looking trouble right in the eye.

Men are being trained by the manufacturers and are being lent money to operate dealerships. This is about as close to owning a business without having your name on it as you can get.

Then there is the man with a heavy supply of money and perhaps some friends also so supplied. From this set-up you can buy a car with about any credit arrangement you want. They are lending money with cars as the medium for attracting customers.

The overall result is that the "bigs" are moving into the car business, as is the case in many other lines. The really little business man is having his days numbered.

PENNSYLVANIA FEATURED

A clever little note from Margaret McNeilly of the Curtis Publishing Company reminds us that the October issue of the magazine Holiday will feature the Keystone State. Twenty-five photographs and an essay by Conrad Richter, Pulitzer prize-winner, make up the feature.

HOT DOGS BOOMING

More hot dogs are being consumed this year than ever before. The "dog" is a major part of the American menu, and is being given a respectable place in the scheme of kitchen things by use in baked beans, stuffed with cheese, and numerous other approaches to the problem of making a wiener edible and delectable.

Louise Hamilton says the frankfurter is not really an American idea. It first was devoured in Germany about 1852, and became an American immigrant about 1883. During those much publicized twenties it became known as a sandwich mainstay with everything on, and as such made a few hep hotplate artists a bit of wealth in the pocket-size restaurant business.

FASTEST COLOR

If the label says "vat-dyed" the color in your cottons, rayons, and linens will hold. Vat dyes penetrate the textile fibres and become a part of it. The resulting chemical composition makes dissolving in either hot or cold water impossible. They also resist sun, perspiration, bleaches, and abrasion.

WATCH THE BAD APPLE

One of the best fruits to store is the apple, which lasts longer than most others. However, make sure that all of them are sound. One bad apple can spoil a half bushel.

NOT A CURE

The FTC has ordered the makers of Sykes Hernia Control to stop claims about its ability to cure hernias and ruptures, and to stop stating that it is not a truss. The maker also is ordered to cease claiming he operates clinics staffed with professional personnel.

TABLETS OVER-RATED

Kordolin Tablets as a cure for arthritis and rheumatism are not as potent as the ads say. In fact, the FTC says the statements therein are greatly exaggerated and the corporation making them has been prohibited from saying more along the same line.

BIG MONTH

The Federal Trade Commission

had a big month in July when it took nearly sixty actions against false advertising, misbranding, and misrepresentation. Bargains attacked ranged from a tonic claimed to help heart trouble, old age, and swollen knees to a golden opportunity coupon book enabling the buyer to get $45 worth of merchandise for a piffling $2.50. The tonic was Kary-On, in case you hit and have a bottle in the closet.

A current FTC report lists in a quick review the many cases, but most of them already have been reported here. But the work of the FTC rolls along unsung in most papers. Its work is greatly helped by those who have the courage to write in complaints. Indignant purchasers who find strings attached to "bargains" or no ease of their pains in tonics, should write the FTC in Washington if the product crossed state lines. In such cases the FTC can move quickly. It is up to you.

Tax Reductions

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON -- Tax reduction -- yes or no -- already is boiling up as a major question for the second session of the 84th Congress beginning in January. In considering it, as in considering other issues, members have their eyes cocked on next year's November election, and so do party leaders, including high Administration officials.

It was one of the latter, in fact, who opened up the question this far in advance of the next session, the man responsible for Administration financial policy. This is Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey, who suggested the possibility of a balanced budget by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30. If a surplus then could be seen "down the road," he said he would favor a tax cut.

At his suggestion, to help the cause of a balanced budget along, President Eisenhower sent the word through the vast government establishment to pare down in spending wherever possible in the next few months to wipe out an estimated $1.7 billion deficit now estimated.

The tax cut cue, hedged about as it was, could come from no more appropriate source than the man who manages the nation's finances. Accordingly, it is being capitalized hopefully by both Republican and Democratic politicians who are vying for credit for tax reduction for 1956 campaign purposes. Democrats are most strategically placed to reap credit since they control Congress and made a gesture, widely publicized, in the last session with the flat $20 cut for everybody across the board which the House passed but which the Senate did not take up. But Republicans have a card in their control of the Executive branch of the government which gives the President a chance to put in a bid, if he chooses, by outlining a tax cut proposal in his annual message to Congress when it reconvenes and before it gets down to work.

Voices of caution are being raised, if sparingly, about rushing too precipitously into tax reduction, and generally on three grounds -- (1) that such a step should not be taken unless it is absolutely certain the budget is balanced; (2) that it might be just the extra spark that would explode the present boom into dangerous inflation; and (3) that too rigid pruning of expenses, especially for national defense, to get a tax cut might imperil national security. As for the last, well-based reports that defense spending would be pared by a billion dollars, chiefly affecting airplane procurement, finally brought a denial from Admiral Arthur Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, after a visit with the President at Denver, as well as sharp protests from former President Harry Truman.

Warning against tax reduction came from two prominent figures of as widely diverse political views as ex-President Truman and Rep. Daniel A. Reed, veteran New York Republican, who is Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee where revenue bills must originate. Bluff Dan Reed thus found himself out of step again with the Administration on taxes. In the first session of the Republican-controlled 83rd Congress, it was he who demanded tax cuts to fulfill 1952 campaign promises. President Eisenhower and Secretary Humphrey blocked him. Eventually the Administration sponsored tax reductions in the second session of that Congress. But no more now, he says, because of a still tense international situation and danger of inflation.

"Until the Soviet leaders back up their protestations of friendly intention with definite, concrete evidences of their willingness to seek a peaceful solution to international tensions the American people must maintain a healthy skepticism toward what may prove to be another propaganda trick," he said. "In the meantime, there is little immediate prospect of any substantial reduction in military expenditures. Until that day comes, we should not become overly optimistic about substantial tax cuts."

Ex-President Truman issued a similar warning about the Russians in a Chicago speech, saying we must keep our guard up, after insisting earlier in a Detroit speech that there is no way to reduce taxes and balance the budget now. He labeled Republican promises of tax reduction as "demagoguery." It can be said that whether "demagoguery" or not, many of his fellow Democrats in Congress are going to make the most of it and get in on tax reduction efforts.

Republican strategists have another political motive in pressing for tax reduction other than the usual appeal of lower taxes. This is to get the party on record for tax cuts for the "little man" to offset the cry of "big business Administration" which Democrats already indicate will be a campaign slogan. In making their case, Democrats again are pointing, as they did in the 1954 Congressional election campaign, to tax legislation of the 83rd Republican Congress which they claimed was weighted for the big fellows, along with other Administration policies they are singling out as big business-inspired.

EARLY CONDITIONING always is managed by Corry football teams which seem at mid-season tempo in opening games. We always have felt that Warren would trample the Beavers if they ever tangled about October 15.

OUTNUMBERED are the Davy Crocketts. The Daniel Boones have them bushwacked with a majority of 72. Social security cards have been issued to 149 people named Davy Crockett. Cards for Daniel Boones number 221.

HOW TO SAFELY EAT or can a mushroom can be learned by visiting Harrisburg, September 15 and 16, when the annual Pennsylvania Industrial and Occupational Safety Conference will be held. No matter what your business you probably can find a way to safely carry it on. The mushroom idea comes under the heading of food processing and packaging, set for Friday, September 16, when Frank R. Ripka, of the Brandywine Mushroom Corporation, will speak.

NEW TAXES for Warren will be the subject of many financial meetings to be held by council between now and the 1956 budget-making time. And this year we would not be surprised to see the earned income tax established. At a half of one percent it might raise about $100,000, think some. If this were true, the per capita tax, the most unfair of all, could be dropped.

NEW GROCERY SITE talk is common around Warren these days, with one chain supposedly offering as much as $70,000 for a spot. Meanwhile, a site which would be ideal for a super market is going to a major church. This may net the sellers less money but it will keep commercialism out of a neighborhood.

HAPPY ARE WE to see that the Warren Chamber of Commerce is broadening its viewpoint concerning building development. A committee has been appointed to discuss problems of mutual benefit to the entire area with Sheffield, Tidioute, Youngsville, and Sugar Grove invited to participate. With labor slack in at least two of these communities and with the added assets of an entire county to offer new industry, the approach could be much more effective. Or aren't they talking about new business?

The Warren committee consists of Robert Shiels, Kermit Forsgren, Ray Steber, Neil Culbertson, and Alex Fino.

Two shots of Jaycee "get" have been given to the senior group. Chuck Tranter, the new Executive V.P. is a former Jaycee leader, and now Alex Fino has been appointed

THE FLOOD PROBLEM may be faced in this area when a watershed association is formed at a meeting to be held in Bradford September 26, with McKean, Warren, and Potter counties participating as a part of seventeen statewide sessions. Flood control will be on the agenda for this meeting. We hope the Warren Chamber of Commerce sends open minds to this one. Previous approaches by some officials from this group have indicated an unenlightened prejudice concerning the flood situation.

Such associations can be of great value if they are formed to obtain the best answer to a problem and not to promote previously reached conclusions.

THE DEATH CAR. Three were killed when this station wagon, which now resembles a convertible, left the highway near Sheffield at the Hague's Well Curve and crashed into a tree on Saturday evening,

September 2. The dangerous curve has been the scene of several traffic fatalities and innumerable accidents of the less tragic varieties. The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Trott and their four-year-

Paean To Our Indestructability

On the whole it's an optimistic message that Thornton Wilder has for us in "The Skin of Our Teeth" which NBC-TV bravely presented for our inspection Sunday night. I throw that in at the outset in case you didn't know what Mr. Wilder was talking about, which is quite understandable and will not be frowned upon by even the deepest thinkers who were occasionally thrown for a loss by Mr. Wilder, too.

When it was first presented on Broadway in 1942, "The Skin of Our Teeth" set a record which has not been approached to this very day for people walking out on it after the first act, muttering dark imprecations about the preposterousness of it all. I have a strong suspicion that the same thing happened Sunday night, people switching hurriedly to the more familiar outlines of the Ed Sullivan show where you are occasionally stupefied but never bewildered.

More's the pity, though, because you can see Sullivan any Sunday night and this ANTA production of the Wilder play, which won wide acclaim in Paris this summer, has many moments of rare and exciting theater that demands of the spectator a good deal more than passive absorption. Wilder, who possesses one of the most gifted though frequently exasperating minds around, is here expressing his wonder at the indestructability of a man in face of the terrors of nature, the cussedness of his own sinful flesh and finally the more complex evils of his own neuroses in this modern world.

In short, a large order. Mr. Wilder's Everyman is the George Antrobus family which triumphs over ice age, floods and wars. And in the midst of it all George Antrobus finds time to invent the alphabet and the wheel and arithmetic and Mrs. Antrobus to raise her troublesome children, who represent the survival of the race, and, as it were, to keep the home fires burning. Then there is Sabina, the eternal temptress who both inspires Antrobus to such flights as the invention of algebra and leads him astray from time to time.

I suppose the hardest part of this to get down is the first act when Mary Martin as Sabina has to get through an awful chunk of exposition to set the stage - and does it about as well as anyone could. I am personally fond of the second act where Sodom and Gomorrah are depicted as a sort of wild Shriner's convention in Atlantic City which leads, of course, to the deluge.

While his is an antic fancy, Wilder is a very surefooted dramatist. The seduction scene where Sabina lands Antrobus while a cynical crone of a fortune-teller cries "Bingo" is a wonderful bit of foolishness. And the deluge scene where the eternal home-builder Mrs. Antrobus has to wrest her husband from the temptress and to rescue her son from his everlasting wickedness and to herd the whole pack aboard the Ark is great theater and great television. In the last act Mr. Wilder's preoccupation with neuroses, which threaten to engulf the human race even more completely than the ice age, gets a little heavy-handed for my taste. Also, I've never understood the interruptions of Sabina in which she complains that she hates the play. Why Mr. Wilder should attempt to knock his own play on the head -- well I've never understood it.

"The Skin of Our Teeth" requires of its players that they throw themselves into it with the passion of amateurs and the skill of professionals. And this cast did all of that. Helen Hayes as Mrs. Antrobus gave her finest performance in many, many years. Mary Martin as Sabina was stylish and abandoned and, though Sabina is hardly a nice girl, appealing. And George Abbott in his first acting role in years, was a splendid inventor of the wheel. Also Florence Reed, who has made a clean sweep of all the crone parts in the theater, was pretty fine as the fortune-teller.

And NBC deserves a pat on the back for attempting a play which is bound to leave a lot of its customers thoroughly baffled.

OBITUARIES

MERRITT BARTSCH, 46, Dutch Hill Road, was instantly killed in an automobile accident in Conewango township on Saturday evening, September 10. Services in his memory were held at the Peterson Funeral Home on Wednesday, September 14.

JAMES L. MAGEE, 64, of Dutch Hill Road, was killed instantly in an automobile accident in Conewango township. Funeral services were held on Wednesday, September 14, at the Peterson Funeral Home.

WILLIAM A. ARMSTRONG, 71, of Youngsville, died Friday, September 9 in Youngsville. Services in his memory were held Monday, September 12, at the Young Funeral Home.

LATE SPORT

A Good Showing was made in the national amateur by Fred Paine, former Warren golfer. He went to the fourth round before losing to James C. McCoy, of West Palm Beach, Fla., 3 to 2, Wednesday afternoon. In the morning he won his third round, one up, over Jesse V. Hall, Jr., of Richmond, in 19 holes.

Toby Lyons, former Warren golf pro, defeated Paul Porter, Warren's present pro, 70 to 76, in a play-off for the Western New York PGA title. They tied in the regular tournament earlier and played it off at Rochester yesterday.

The Champs of the Warren City Industrial softball league are the Texas Lunchers who won both halves. They defeated Jones Chevrolet, of Sheffield, last night, 18 to 14, in a second half play-off.

BOWLING

Bowling leagues opened fire this week and by next Thursday we probably will have a full report. Getting right back into stride we find Pete Juliano leading the field with a 620 in the Commercial loop. Jack Kifer had 585 and Dr. Yerg 577 in the same league. Harry Wooster posted 247 for high game. Joe Musante led the K of C National with 579. Dan Doherty rolled 547.

Vi Sterling led the ladies with 582 in the Major and a 224 game. Rita Miley apparently still was in form, leading the City league with 497. Stella Cerra had a 201 game in that circuit. Bev McMillan paced Peg's loop with 465.

TO WAVE PROUDLY OVER LACY SCHOOL. Carol Simones, student leader of the Safety Patrol at Lacy elementary school, received the green pennant from Pvt. Joseph Mastrian, of the Pennsylvania State

Police, in ceremonies conducted at the school on Monday morning. The officer commended the students for achieving two gold stars on their certificate which indicated an exemplary safety record during the past two years. The flag will fly directly beneath the Stars and Stripes unless an accident destroys its silent testimony.

HARMONIOUS NEGOTIATIONS are continuing between representatives of management of the DeLuxe Metal Furniture Co. and representatives of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America, Local No. 633. This picture was taken as the men gathered for the sixth meeting in four weeks. Both sides were unanimous in predicting an eventual mutually satisfactory settlement.

A CALL TO REPENTANCE will be heard on Sunday morning at 10:30 by the Warren Hebrew Congregation when Rabbi Melvin Halpern blows the Shofar (Ram's Horn) as a part of the Rosh Hashanah (Jewish New Year). The celebration starts Friday evening at sundown and continues until the same hour on Sunday evening and will include three services in the synagogue daily.

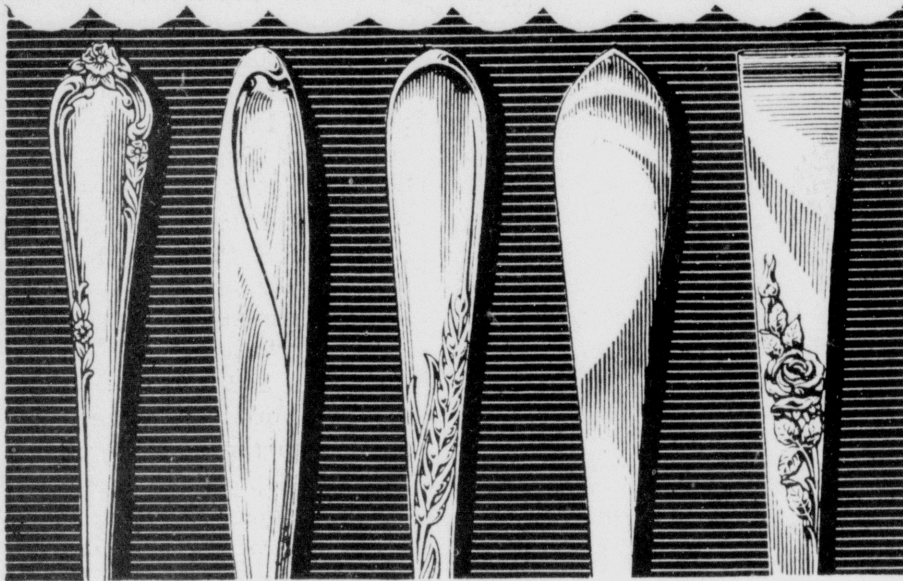

The Shofar will awaken the Jewish people to repentance. The advent of the new year is of utmost importance to the faithful as at that time God judges the people for deeds of the completed year.

TO BE JUDGED IN NATIONAL COMPETITION, Linda Keys (center) was winner in the senior sewing competition, Susan Lucke and Linda McKelvey (on her left and right) were tied for first place in the junior stitch-offs which were held as the climax of the annual Singer eight-weeks' course. At the extreme left is Singer Warren Manager Eugene Brown and to his left, Val Jean Barhite, course instructor. The other three ladies are the judges (left to right) Mrs. Whitehill, Warren homemaking teacher, Miss Fagley, Warren County advisor, and Mrs. Wright, Sheffield Homemaking teacher.

The girls made the garments they are wearing during the course of eight lessons which takes two and one-half hours each week. The cost is $8 per girl. Their garments will now be forwarded to the national contest.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

That Geneva business scared some GOP leaders out of their ward-heeling wits. It is better politics to have a peace which costs $34 billion a year in defense spending than a peace which actually is a peace.

The $34 billion a year peace also assures prosperity. There is much question in the minds of some economic authorities whether we would have prosperity very long without the help of the government's check book.

Neither the Democrats nor the Republicans have come up with proof that they can make the free enterprise system work without big government spending, either in the form of defense billions or public works. The big smile era which tried to start at Geneva could upset political plans.

GOP leaders used McCarthy and his ism for every vote it was worth during the last campaign, then got rid of the gentleman by letting him bring public disfavor down upon himself. The Eisenhower group never really faced him down.

But a lull in the cold war could bring the Big Accuser back into the Washington glow by viewing with alarm such a false sense of security. They prefer to let McCarthyism remain a sleeping dog.

Diplomatically handled the Geneva take-off could lead to a world peace such as never has been known. But politics within our ranks may delay positive action.

However, this is true only if the public sits by and allows it. The public has been sitting by since the last election, unexcited about major issues and demanding little. As a result it has received little, a fact which can be revealed by a close look at the Congressional record.

What has been done for education? What happened to the highway program?

Have you written to your senator or congressman to express your opposition to removal of controls on natural gas production prices?

How happy is the farmer with his lowest income since the postwar year of 1947?

Unfortunately the public is asking so little that no champion is arising to meet the demand. The Democrats have produced no new leaders, and as a whole have done little to take advantage of the opportunity afforded by the do-nothing Republicans. In fact, both have been very much do-nothing, with the Democrats revealing themselves to be quite a bit big business, as suggested by the tidelands oil legislation.

Oil is one of the most powerful groups in the nation, and the Democrats showed no willingness to buck its influence. They turned back the tidelands oil to the states and we see them doing nothing about the "depletion" advantage given that industry, which can deduct 27.5 percent of its gross income each year before paying taxes.

It is possible under this set-up for an oil firm to deduct in taxes far more than it ever invested. Try that in your business and see how it works. But the big business boys in both parties sit by and do nothing.

There is no champion in Washington. There is a popular war hero at the top and he will be reelected unless the bottom falls out in some unexpected way. They call him the tool of big business, as suggested by the character of the personnel with which he is surrounded. But what major party can boast a current record that will allow it to point a finger with a straight face?

People are so complacent about the many dollars they are receiving, despite their lack of value, that it will require a very healthy stirring in the next twelve months to upset the status quo. And as long as those $34 billion a year are spent to keep it that way, no change is likely.

For the record we did not say that the free enterprise system wouldn't work. We said that neither major political party has come up with anything but the spending of tax money as a means of synthetically buying prosperity.

We believe the free enterprise system, or most any economic system, will work if the people take an enlightened interest in the issue and express their wants to elected officials. The people always are in a majority, but they constantly relinquish their ruling rights to powerful lobbies and organized groups.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Bines, 336 Fifth ave., E., were honored with an open house celebration, arranged by their children, on Sunday, September 11. The twenty-fifth anniversary fete acknowledged the wed-
